

Financial Markets Conduct Amendment Bill

Government Bill

As reported from the Finance and Expenditure Committee

Commentary

Recommendation

The Finance and Expenditure Committee has examined the Financial Markets Conduct Amendment Bill and recommends unanimously that it be passed. We also recommend all amendments unanimously.

About the bill as introduced

This bill is one of three related to financial services that the Government is progressing as a package. The other bills are the Credit Contracts and Consumer Finance Amendment Bill and the Financial Service Providers (Registration and Dispute Resolution) Amendment Bill. The overall objectives of the bills are to simplify and streamline regulation of financial services, remove undue compliance costs for financial markets participants, and improve outcomes for consumers.

This is an omnibus bill that would amend the Financial Markets Conduct Act 2013 and the Financial Markets Authority Act 2011. Among other things, the bill would:

- amend provisions in subpart 6A of Part 6 of the Financial Markets Conduct Act to adjust the minimum requirements that apply to a financial institution's fair conduct programme under the Conduct of Financial Institutions regime
- amend other provisions in Part 6 of the Financial Markets Conduct Act relating to market services licences issued by the Financial Markets Authority (FMA)
- insert new provisions into the Financial Markets Conduct Act that would require the FMA to approve certain changes relating to licensed market service providers and authorised bodies
- insert new provisions into the Financial Markets Authority Act that would enable the FMA to conduct on-site inspections of financial markets participants.

Amendment Paper 446

Shortly before we finished considering the bill, the Minister of Commerce and Consumer Affairs wrote to us requesting that we consider changes to the climate-related disclosure regime as set out in Amendment Paper 446. We have done so, and discuss the proposed changes at the end of this commentary.

Legislative scrutiny

As part of our consideration of the bill, we have examined its consistency with principles of good legislative design. We considered several matters, which we are satisfied have been addressed without requiring any amendments to the bill. Refer to pages 16 to 18 of the departmental report for more information.

Proposed amendments

This commentary covers the main amendments we recommend to the bill as introduced. We do not discuss minor or technical amendments.

Definition of price

Clause 4(4) would insert a definition of “price” into section 6 of the Financial Markets Conduct Act. We recommend deleting the definition. It is not needed because the term “price” is intended to carry its ordinary meaning (an amount paid for a financial product or service).

FMA’s approval required for certain changes

Clause 18 would insert subpart 3A into Part 6 of the Financial Markets Conduct Act. Under the new subpart, the FMA’s approval would be required for:

- someone to obtain significant influence over a licensee or an authorised body (new section 421A)
- a licensee or an authorised body to enter into a significant transaction (new section 421C)
- a licensee or an authorised body to amalgamate with 1 or more other entities (new section 421D).

We recommend several changes to clause 18, set out below.

Significant transactions and amalgamations

We received a submission that new sections 421C and 421D appear to require approval from the FMA even if the proposed action is not relevant to or governed by the Act’s licensing regime. Such an approval would be unnecessary.

We recommend amending section 421C so that approval would not be required for non-licensed business. The section should only apply in respect of a business for providing a market service. We do not think that section 421D should be amended. We think it is appropriate to require the FMA’s approval for amalgamation, since the surviving entity of any amalgamation would hold, or would be authorised under, a licence to provide one or more market services.

Report on proposal

New section 421I would enable the FMA to arrange for a suitably qualified person to prepare a report on a proposed change in order to assist the FMA to perform its functions, powers, or duties. We think an expert report is unlikely to be needed and think the FMA has the requisite expertise to assess any proposed change on its own. We recommend deleting section 421I. We also recommend amending clause 22 to remove the civil liability that would arise if section 421I was contravened.

FMA's consideration of request

New section 421J would require the FMA, when considering a request for approval under new subpart 3A, to:

- consider whether the licensee or authorised body would still meet the requirements referred to in section 396(a) to (g) or 400(1)(a) to (e) or (1A)(a) to (e) if the proposed change occurred
- consult the Reserve Bank of New Zealand if the licensee or authorised body was a regulated entity.

It is intended that the test for approval is targeted on the licensing requirements in the above sections. To make this explicit, we recommend amending new section 421J to require the FMA to grant a request for approval if satisfied that the requirements in the above sections would continue to be met outright or subject to conditions that the FMA would impose.

Nature of the conditions FMA may impose

Under new section 421K, an approval given by the FMA under subpart 3A could be subject to any conditions:

- prescribed by the regulations; or
- that related to matters prescribed in the regulations.

We think the bill should provide more certainty about the nature of the conditions that the FMA could impose. We recommend amending new section 421J so that when the FMA grants approval it could do either or both of the following:

- impose non-licence conditions of approval relating to the requirements in section 396 or 400 of the Act
- vary, revoke, add to, or substitute any conditions of licence imposed on the licensed person.

We think the bill should also provide more certainty about procedural requirements. We recommend inserting section 421JA so that the imposition of conditions is subject to procedural requirements that are broadly equivalent to those set out in section 405 of the Act.

Appealing decisions

We recommend inserting clause 29B to amend section 531 of the Act. New section 531(e) and (f) would enable a person to appeal to a court against a decision of the FMA to:

- refuse to grant approval under subpart 3A of Part 6; or
- give its approval subject to conditions that it would impose.

This amendment would be consistent with the appeal rights that exist for other decisions of the FMA under Part 6 of the Act.

Exemptions from requirements for FMA's approval

Section 546 of the Act empowers the Governor-General to make regulations related to market services (by Order in Council and on the recommendation of the Minister). Clause 30(1) would insert section 546(1)(fa) into the Act. This would enable regulations to be made that exempt any class of licensees or authorised bodies from the requirement to obtain approval from the FMA under subpart 3A of Part 6.

We recommend amending clause 30(1) so that regulations could be made that exempted any class of persons—not just licensees or authorised bodies—from complying with any provision of subpart 3A of Part 6. We think exemptions should be able to cover any class of persons who have compliance obligations under subpart 3A.

We also recommend amending clause 30(1) so any class of transactions could be made exempt from complying with any provision of subpart 3A of Part 6. This would be consistent with the policy intent to enable approval requirements to be narrowed in a way that is proportionate to risk.

Minimum requirements for fair conduct programme

Section 446G of the Act requires every financial institution to have a fair conduct programme. These programmes are designed to ensure that institutions are compliant with the fair conduct principle (that consumers must be treated fairly). Section 446J sets out minimum requirements for fair conduct programmes.

Clause 19(5) of the bill would replace section 446J(1)(e) to (h). New paragraph (e) relates to supervision and training of each employee to ensure they are supporting their institution's compliance with the fair conduct principle. We recommend limiting this provision so it applies only to the extent that an employee's work is relevant to supporting compliance with the fair conduct principle. Some work will not be relevant, making supervision and training unnecessary.

On-site inspection power

Clause 56 would insert sections 28A to 28D into the Financial Markets Authority Act. These sections would give the FMA the power to conduct an on-site inspection of a financial markets participant. However, the definition of financial markets participant under section 4 of the Act may not cover a wholesale offeror of financial products that is regulated under Part 2 of the Act. We recommend expanding clause 56 so that the on-site inspection power covers entities regulated under Part 2 of the Act, in addition to financial markets participants.

Amendment Paper 446: climate-related disclosures

Background and process

The climate-related disclosures regime requires financial markets entities above a certain size to report on their climate-related risks and opportunities in annual climate statements. The purpose of the regime is to ensure that climate change is considered in business and investment decisions.

In October 2025, Cabinet decided to modify the climate-related disclosures regime. The changes Cabinet agreed to include:

- raising the reporting threshold for listed issuers from $60 million in market capitalisation (or quoted debt) to $1 billion
- removing Managed Investment Scheme managers from the regime
- adjusting the liability settings to:
  - remove deemed (i.e., automatic) director liability for certain entity breaches
  - provide that directors and entities are not required to have the same high level of evidence for their climate disclosures as they do for their financial disclosures.

The Minister of Commerce and Consumer Affairs asked us to consider the above changes as part of our consideration of the bill. The changes would be given effect to by Amendment Paper 446. The changes relate to the bill's single broad policy by making it easier for participants to comply with the requirements of the financial markets regulatory system, and for the FMA to administer it.

We agreed to consider the proposed changes and obtained an extension from the Business Committee to our reporting deadline, to 30 January 2026. This enabled us to call for submissions on the amendment paper.

Our consideration

We recommend inserting the proposals in Amendment Paper 446 into the bill with the following changes:

- New section 26A (as inserted by proposed new clause 4A) would remove the prohibition on unsubstantiated representations for climate reporting entities that comply with climate standards. We recommend amending this provision to clarify that it would be sufficient for them to comply with climate standards in all material respects. A minor or immaterial failure to comply with standards should not disqualify a climate reporting entity from benefiting from new section 26A.
- We recommend inserting clause 28B(2), which would repeal section 461P(2)(a) and 461P(5) of the Financial Markets Conduct Act. These provisions exempt listed issuers with securities quoted only on a growth market from preparing climate statements. The exemption is not necessary if the reporting threshold is raised to a market capitalisation of $1 billion.

- We recommend amending sections 461Z, 461ZA, and 461ZB of the Financial Markets Conduct Act to remove the requirement for two directors to sign climate statements. We see no additional benefit in the requirement, and removing it should not affect the potential liability or accountability of directors under the Act.
- We recommend amending Schedule 1 to make it more explicit that if the bill means an entity ceases to be a climate reporting entity for an accounting period, it need not prepare and lodge climate statements for that period.

New Zealand Labour Party differing view

The Labour Party opposes the changes to climate change reporting. While some tweaks to the current rules are desirable, the significant reduction in climate change reporting obligations is yet another signal that this Government is not committed to meeting the challenge of climate change.

      - (A) the scheme's trustees include a licensed independent trustee who also acts as a director of a sole corporate trustee for 1 15 or more other restricted schemes:

  - (b) the licensed independent trustee in respect of the scheme is not a director of any related body corporate of a relevant person (other than a related body corporate that is a sole corporate trustee referred to in paragraph (a)); and 20
  - (c) the constitution of a sole corporate trustee referred to in paragraph (a) does not authorise any of its directors to act in a manner that the director believes is in the best interests of a holding company of the sole corporate trustee even though it may not be in the best interests of the sole corporate trustee. 25
- (2) Section 131(1)(d) does not apply to the extent that it requires the licensed independent trustee to be a person who is not a director of a related body corporate of a relevant person (see paragraph (c) of the definition of independent in section 131(3)). 30

- (b) subsequent accounting periods.
- (2) If, under the amendments made by the Financial Markets Conduct Amendment Act 2025, an entity (A) ceases to be a climate reporting entity (or a climate reporting entity in respect of a scheme) in respect of an accounting period, A is not required to ensure the following: 20
